Police Blame Firm In Mad Bomber Case

New York, Jan. 25 (AP)—High police officials say the Consolidated Edison Co. obstructed the search for the "Mad Bomber" by allegedly denying for two years the existence of old records of employees before 1940.

Officials of the giant electric and gas company reply that Consolidated Edison cooperated with the police to the best of its ability over the years.

A disgruntled former employee, George Metesky, 53, was arrested as the bomber at his Waterbury, Conn., home Monday night after a file of his letters turned up in a company search of records.

The dispute between the police and Consolidated Edison over the way the case was handled flared up last night with the accusation which was attributed

Port Ewen Bank Plan Is Moving Tentative Date Is Early Summer

It is possible that the Port Ewen area will have its own commercial banking facilities by spring or early summer according to Irving Eyles, executive vice president of Rondout National Bank.

The announcement was made jointly by James Dwyer, president and Mr. Eyles, guest speakers at a meeting of the newly formed Port Ewen Businessmen's Association Thursday night at Port Ewen Firehouse.

Application Filed
They told approximately 40 members of the businessmen's group that an application had been filed with the Treasury Department in Washington, D. C. for permission to open a branch in Port Ewen.

Mr. Eyles said the bank had made a complete survey of the Port Ewen area and had found that the rapid growth and expansion of the area warranted establishment of its own commercial banking facilities. He said that the officials of the bank feel that a branch can better serve their present depositors in the area and provide many other conveniences to new depositors.

Consider Sites
Discussion during the meeting brought out that suitable sites are being considered for the branch and action will be taken as soon as approval from Washington arrives.

John F. Spinnenweber, president of the businessmen's group appointed a banking committee to assist the Rondout Bank with the project.

The agenda of the meeting also included discussion of long range programs to meet the problems of a growing community. Mr. Spinnenweber said. Some of the items discussed were traffic, school consolidation, and parking.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, Feb. 28 at 8 p. m. in the Port Ewen firehouse.

To Get Layoff Benefits

Chicago, Jan. 25 (AP)—Chicago & Western Railway employees belonging to 12 non-operating unions will receive supplementary layoff pay benefits, the railroad disclosed yesterday.

Air Force Is Using 'Copters Jungles and Snow Are Big Handicap

Rome, N. Y., Jan. 25 (AP)—Helicopter and ground parties set out at daybreak today in renewed efforts to bring out from an almost impassable Adirondack wilderness the bodies of seven men killed in the crash of an air force tanker plane.

Mountainous terrain overgrown with jungles of brush, great trees blown down, near-zero temperatures, snow ranging from a foot to hip deep and icy woodland torrents yesterday prevented ground searchers from reaching the scene.

More Snow Threatens
Cloudy weather and light snow predicted for today indicated further difficulty.

The air force dispatched helicopters and two ground parties. Other ground parties were ordered into the woods by state police under the command of Capt. Harold Muller.

The KC-97, an aircraft used by the Strategic Air Command for refueling jet bombers and fighters in flight, plunged into a mountainside Tuesday night with the loss of all aboard. The wreckage was spotted yesterday by helicopter. The scene is about 40 miles northeast of Rome and three miles north of the Herkimer county community of Nobleboro.

Reach Wreckage

Five men reached the wreckage later in the day. The party flew by helicopter to within 34 miles and went the remaining distance on foot. They reported there was no indication any of the men had lived through the crash.

Edward J. Thomas, chief of the security force at Griffiss Air Force Base here, the tanker's destination on the flight from its base at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., remained at the scene overnight.

Two others, Sgt. Thomas Rowe and Airman 2/c William McDougal, trod more than four miles to the state police station at South Lake. Lt. Frank Lester and Flight Surgeon George Ginter walked about a mile and caught a ride the remaining distance on a snowmobile.

Parts Scattered

Lester told a reporter the

FBI Hints Diplomats Involved One Bossed Red Agents in U. S.

New York, Jan. 25 (AP)—The FBI today cracked down on another alleged Russian spy ring, arresting a woman and two men. The agency hinted the roundup may involve others—including "Soviet officials."

Man, Wife Held

Those taken into custody were identified as:

Jack Soble, 53, of 321 West 78th street, a native of Lithuania who entered the U. S. in 1941 and became a naturalized citizen in 1947. He was termed a onetime boss of other Red agents, but was believed trying to flee the country.

Myra Soble, 52, wife of Jack Soble, a native of Russia who came to the U. S. a few days before her husband and also became a naturalized citizen.

Jacob Albam, 64, of 210 Riverside Drive, Lithuanian-born former of a Brooklyn tea and spice company, who entered the country in 1947 on a visitor's visa, married an American woman and has been seeking citizenship.

May Be Expelled

The FBI hint that Russian officials may be involved indicated to diplomatic authorities in Washington that one or more Russians now stationed in the United States would very likely be thrown out of the country in the near future.

The State Department press office declined any comment on this implication. The secrecy itself, however, tended to strengthen the possibility, since actions against foreign diplomats normally are not announced until after they have been taken.

The department officially based its policy on silence, however, on the explanation offered by press officer Lincoln White that the matter is being handled by the Justice Department.

An ejection of Russian representatives from the United States—and American from the Soviet Union—on charges of spying has a history as old as the cold war. Over the years probably a score or more of diplomats, including various military attaches, have been ousted from each of the two capitals.

Details Held Back

The FBI would not go into details of activities attributed to the three under arrest.

The trio was taken under a heavy guard of FBI agents to FBI headquarters here shortly before 8 a. m., the men in handcuffs.

FBI agents also carried a quantity of brown paper boxes, whose contents were not disclosed, and a quantity of material described only as "papers."

Also brought in was a silver metal box, about a foot square and four inches high.

Arraigned Today

FBI men said the three would be arraigned later today at the U. S. Courthouse on Foley Square.

The arrests were first disclosed in Washington by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover.

The announcement of the arrests hinted that others may be involved, "including Soviet officials." Evidence against all will be presented to a New York grand jury, it was said.

Each of the trio in custody was charged with conspiracy to commit espionage, and also with conspiracy to act as a Soviet agent without registering with the secretary of state.

Witness Causes Added Turmoil In Montesi Trial

Venice, Italy, Jan. 25 (P)—A game warden threw the Wilma Montesi trial into a turmoil today with testimony that attorneys for Roman playboy Ugo Montagna had suggested the warden take the rap for the party girl's death.

Montagna is one of the defendants accused of giving false testimony as to just how Wilma met her death in April 1953. The case almost upset the government when it came to light about 2½ years ago.

Anastasio Lilli, a game warden at the Capocotta Lodge managed by Montagna, testified that one of Montagna's lawyers passed word that if he confessed to manslaughter in connection with Wilma's death "I would get away with three years in jail and much good later."

The dapper hawk-nosed Montagna, elegantly dressed in pale grey, leaped to his feet. His attorneys calmed him.

Wilma's body was found on the Ostia beach near the hunting lodge. There have been statements that she died after a high society sex and dope orgy.

Leaps are small insects in Australia. They cause short circuits in telephone wires.

3 More Arrested In Klan Shooting

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 25 (P)—Three more persons were arrested last night by officers investigating a Ku Klux Klan shooting in which citizens council leader Asa E. (Ace) Carter already was charged.

Booked on charges of assault with intent to murder — the same count filed against Carter — were Ira Evans, 33, and Louey Curry, 27. Police said Mrs. Mary Nell Tatum, 32, was charged with being an accessory after the fact.

The arrests came on the second day of an intensive probe into the shooting of two men during a Ku Klux Klan meeting at the headquarters of Carter's citizens council group.

Detectives conducting the investigation were checking reports that witnesses of the shooting were being intimidated.

Attlee Lecture Off

Toronto, Jan. 25 (P)—Earl Attlee's scheduled lecture in Toronto tonight has been canceled because of public apathy. It was to have been the last in a three-week tour of North America.

Mrs. Estelle Craig, commented: "This would have been almost a fiasco, to have permitted the meeting to go on. Massey Hall holds 2,752 persons. There wouldn't have been enough people there to fill more than half a dozen rows."

Reds Call Global Flight Plan to Start Next War

Moscow, Jan. 25 (P)—The army newspaper Red Star declared today the recent "round-the-world flight of U. S. B52s is part of global preparation by the United States to launch war against the Soviet Union.

In the first comment here on the nonstop flight by three U. S. Stratofortresses in 45 hours and 19 minutes, the Soviet newspaper said:

"American imperialists preparing a nuclear war against the Soviet Union realize they themselves will be subject to nuclear retaliation. They are stubbornly seeking ways of destroying others while they themselves remain intact."

The U. S. Air Force said the flight was a demonstration of its capability to drop a hydrogen bomb anywhere in the world.

The Kremlin has charged before that the United States is planning to attack the Soviet Union. In recent days the Russians have launched a campaign warning other nations not to cooperate with the United States in furnishing overseas bases, saying they were risking retaliatory nuclear destruction by so doing.

Red Star stressed this by saying: "We hope the ruling circles of these countries understand the risks implied in American plans and will not expose their territory to such fire and devastation."

Four Are Charged With 25 Burglaries

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 25 (P)—Police today were holding two men and two women on charges of participating in about 15 burglaries in four western New York counties.

State and local police arrested the quartet in an apartment here last night. Loot estimated at $5,000 was also recovered.

The authorities said that most of the burglaries staged by the gang were in summer cottages in Erie, Monroe, Orleans and Niagara counties.

The four taken into custody were identified as Everett F. Davis, 21, Robert W. Kephart, 29, Miss Marion Vandetta, 32, and Miss Mary Tanner, 24. Police said none has a permanent address.

The women were held in Buffalo overnight and the men were taken to State Police station at Batavia.

No Free Toll Operation

Montreal, Jan. 25 (P)—The president of Canada's St. Lawrence Seaway says tolls on the waterway will be low enough to encourage traffic. But Lionel Chevrier declared last night that requests for toll-free operation would not be met.

Chevrier noted that legislation passed by Parliament and the U. S. Congress directed the amortization of the cost through tolls over a period of 50 years. Chevrier's comments, in a speech at the annual convention of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Assn., were in reply to requests from Canadian and U. S. inland shipping interests. The Lake Carriers Assn. of the United States and Canada's Dominion Marine Assn. asked for toll-free operation this week at their annual joint convention at Seignior Club, Que.

Quake Is Recorded

New York, Jan. 25 (P)—Fordham University reported today that a strong earthquake, at an estimated distance of 4,500 miles from New York, was recorded on its seismograph last night. The Rev. Joseph Lynch, seismologist, said the direction was not clear, but that the quake might have occurred in Chile. He said the first shock was registered at 10:47:39 p. m., and the second at 10:56:27 p. m. He said the quake was of sufficient magnitude to knock down buildings if there were any in the affected area.

Ex-Convict Slain

New York, Jan. 25 (P)—An ex-convict was shot to death today as he was leaving his Bronx apartment to report for work on the piers. The victim was William J. McGuiness, 48, whose wife told police he had been released from Clinton Prison, at Dannemora, N. Y., three months ago.

Buffalo Backing Pollution Control On State Basis

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 25 (AP)—City officials and spokesmen for industry in the Buffalo area have endorsed a bill to control air pollution as a state-wide basis.

No one spoke in opposition to the measure at a hearing yesterday conducted by the joint Legislative Committee on Natural Resources. More than 100 plant executives, city officials and Air Pollution Control experts attended.

President Charles H. Diefendorf of the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce said: "The chamber has concluded that the bill is a good one, and that if the law is fairly and impartially administered it should accomplish its objective."

The bill was introduced in the State Legislature by Senator Wheeler Milmo, Canastota Republican. It would create a state board to establish rules and regulations and direct enforcement of the air-pollution ban.

John C. Quinlan, city Smoke-Control director, said he favored the bill but warned that it would be meaningless if there were not qualified men to enforce its provisions.

John A. Ulinski, executive director of the Niagara Frontier Port Authority, said the authority favored passage of the bill.

Kiwanis Honors Byrne, Stout for Attendance Marks

W. B. Byrne with 24 years and J. F. Stout with 23 years led the list of perfect attendance awards given at the local Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday.

There were 319 man-years of perfect attendance represented at the meeting, spanning the time from one-year men to Byrne's 24 years without missing a meeting.

As a matter of emphasis of this perfect attendance record, John Warren, secretary of the Kiwanis Club, pointed out: "If Thomas Chambers founded a Kiwanis Club in Esopus the same year he obtained his deed from the Indians (1652) and if he met every week from that time until the present, he'd still have to meet for 14 more years to reach the perfect attendance of 319 years!"

A second feature of the Thursday luncheon was the presentation of past-presidents of the local Kiwanis Club, by Raymond Garraghan, chairman of the Kiwanis Education Committee.

A sketch of the history of the club showed that it was organized in 1921 with the late Joseph M. Fowler as organizational chairman. Arthur J. Burns was elected the first president, in 1921. A majority of the past presidents were present at the meeting and were recognized by Raymond Garraghan, himself a past-president.

Appellate Division Upholds Conviction

New York, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Appellate Division has upheld the second degree murder conviction of William Howell, 37-year-old ex-convict, in the slaying of labor leader Thomas F. Lewis.

Lewis, who was president of Local 32-E, International Building Service Employees Union, was shot to death outside his Bronx apartment on Aug. 28, 1953.

Edward "Snakes" Ryan, whom police said was the trigger man, was killed a short time later by a patrolman during a gun battle.

Howell, a former pari-mutuel clerk at Yonkers Raceway, was charged with acting in concert with Ryan. Howell was found guilty by a Bronx county jury on July 9, 1954, and sentenced to a term of from 40 years to life.

Lewis' death led to a state probe of harness track racing. Counsel for Howell appealed his sentencing on the ground that the grand jury which indicted him did not have sufficient evidence to warrant this.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Daniel V. Sullivan disclosed yesterday that the appeal has been turned down by the Appellate Division. Howell last resided in (693-A Shaler Blvd.) in Ridgefield, N. J.

Abraham Lincoln and Gary Cooper once were door-to-door salesmen.

Newburgh Man's Leg Severed in Railroad Mishap

West New York, N. J., Jan. 25 (AP)—A New York Central brakeman's right leg was severed at the knee last night when he fell between two tank cars here.

Virgil H. Dillon, 39, of 119 South Lander St., Newburgh, was riding one of three tank cars which were being coupled when the accident occurred. The wheels of one of the cars passed over his right leg between the ankle and the knee.

A motorcycle policeman heard the alarm over his radio and rushed to the scene to apply first aid. Dillon was taken to North Hudson Hospital in Weehawken, where his condition was described as serious.

It requires twenty volumes to publish the entire Bible in Braille.

PRESTO---STALIN'S BACK

The Kremlin has now come full circle on Stalin, moving from almost total defamation toward a new canonization that may lift the late dictator to heights of Soviet glory he never knew in life.

In a speech recently at Russia's formal reception for Chinese Red Premier Chou En-lai, the Soviet Communist party boss, Nikita Khrushchev, completed the turn-about when he said:

"Would to God that every Communist should be able to fight like Stalin."

A moment before he had defined "Stalinism" as "refusal to compromise, (and the determination) to fight to the end for the triumph of the working class."

So, for all practical purposes, Stalin is back on the pedestal and his picture can be tacked up on the average Russian's dingy walls again without fear of reprisal.

It was this same Khrushchev, of course, who delivered the brutal assault upon Stalin which launched the Kremlin heavily into its de-Stalinization program.

That program, plainly, was a dismal failure. It utterly baffled many Communist leaders outside the Soviet Union, who had been taught for years to revere Stalin.

By seeming to take the emphasis off terror as a weapon of Kremlin control, it loosened the strings that tied the satellite nations to Russia.

Stirrings of unrest followed. In Poland, native leaders kept them under a lid. But in Hungary they burst into genuine revolt and reaped a crushing reprisal.

The Kremlin's resort to violence on a massive scale in Hungary was the painful evidence that "de-Stalinization" was not the self-purging Khrushchev and company tried to make it appear.

Careful reading of his and other blasts at Stalin showed that it was not dictatorship nor the devices of terroristic repression that the present leaders professed to abhor. It was simply the careless, unwise use of these against the "wrong people," and to excess, which Khrushchev protested.

We have the record of Hungary as proof he and the rest still believe in terror "in the right places."

On the ideological level, nothing was basically altered by the de-Stalinization campaign. It represented a shift of emphasis, and as such it was a failure.

The political consequences of the program are something else. Real and perhaps lasting damage may have been done to communism in Russia and beyond. But it is still too early to assess the extent of the damage.

THE NATIONAL INTEREST

In the impending debate on foreign policy, it is to be hoped that a clear-cut definition of the American national interest will be forthcoming. In too many articles on foreign policy, a realization of the essential importance of such a definition or conception appears not to have entered the mind of the writer.

At times, a number of Americans give the impression that their thought runs along the line of winning friends and influencing people by preaching and propaganda. But for what are these friends to be won, and how are they to be influenced? Others are so overly concerned with giving ever new proofs of American sincerity and good intentions that they fall overboard in a sea of what they think to be good will and idealism. We even had a few here and there making the politically imbecile proposal that in order further to prove American good faith, we permit the Panama Canal to be administered by the United Nations.

A lucid and comprehensible definition of the national interest should emerge from debate. More than Dante's Hell can be paved with good intentions. The decline of nations and of freedom also can be so paved. Wishes, hopes and aspirations must be squared with the logic of events. To seek to do less is to lack seriousness about all that is most crucial to us.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
ALEXANDER HAMILTON

This year, the bicentennial of Alexander Hamilton's birth is being celebrated because perhaps more than any man, more than Washington or Jefferson, Hamilton was the political and financial engineer who built the peculiar form of government and the type of capitalistic society that was established here.

It was no mean task that Alexander Hamilton undertook when he wrote the principal Federalist papers because the people in the colonies feared government; or perhaps it is more correct to say that they feared the power of government against which they had rebelled. They had witnessed the peril of the expansion of power and had been forced to risk their lives in a military operation to resist oppression. When men engage in rebellions, they anticipate a large measure of personal liberties to be their gain and often what they really seek is an individualism akin to anarchy. Alexander Hamilton's task was to find an orderly procedure not only for government but for the national economy. He was our first open nationalist, it may be said.

Dean Louis M. Hacker of Columbia University has written a biography, "Alexander Hamilton, in the American Tradition," for the occasion of the bicentennial. This book might well be read by the rulers of the many new nations which are cluttering the world because from it they could learn that no nation is truly free unless it has found a way to establish a sound national economy. George Washington was indeed fortunate that his Secretary of the Treasury, Alexander Hamilton, understood the science of money and the art of building capital and appreciated the relationship of both to national existence and freedom.

Hamilton's "The Report on Manufactures," established the economic relations between the government and the individual citizen, and proposed policies which were consistently pursued until the New Deal came upon the United States and John Maynard Keynes taught us a new economy which has since become our model. Hamilton said this:

"That the annual produce of the land and labor of a country can only be increased in two ways—by some improvement in the productive powers of the useful labor which actually exists within it, or by some increase in the quantity of such labor."

Dean Hacker says of "The Report on Manufactures":

"... It was both the longest and most complex of the public documents Hamilton drew up at this time; it was also his whole statement of his hopes for and his faith in the future of the United States."

"Hamilton wanted men of affairs—adventurers, enterprisers, the capitalist class, in short—to rally to the support of the new government."

In a word, he sought to make the new nation attractive to business and he succeeded, for capital from all parts of the world, capital and labor have poured into this country in enormous quantities not as grants or gifts or aids but as investments with the expectation of a profitable return on the money. It was the attractiveness for investment that built the United States and when protectionism was established for our infant industry, it was not on some theoretical basis that tariffs were good or bad, but rather that industry was beneficial to the country and that capital was entitled to compensation if it was or is to work at all.

Dean Hacker pays Hamilton this tribute:

"This astounding young man—whether born in 1755 or 1757, he was still in his early thirties when he became the country's first Secretary of the Treasury in 1789—was not only the greatest administrator the United States has ever produced, he was undoubtedly one of its greatest statesmen. If statecraft requires the clear understanding of all those forces and factors that a nation's honor and progress demand, plus the ability to create realistically and effectively the day-to-day devices for their realization—in short, the joining of both ends and means in a workable policy—Hamilton was a statesman without equal."

This is a particularly suitable time to study the work of Alexander Hamilton because this country needs to be put back on the track of its traditions. The budget now before Congress will not do that because its expenditures can only weaken both the husbandry of the individual citizen and our national economy. Hamilton did not believe that a nation could be rich if its citizens were impoverished by excessive withdrawal of capital by means of taxation.

SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR MENTAL HEALTH

Recently, while reading a useful booklet "How to Live Without Liquor," I came across a series of suggestions for improving mental health and achieving a more happy and efficient life "so there will be little or no chance of your turning to liquor to make your life livable." This seemed to me to be so sensible, not only for a possible problem drinker but for all of us, that I would like to pass some of them on to my readers. The booklet is written by Dr. Ralph Habas with an introduction by the Director of the Bureau of Health Education of the American Medical Association.

Be sensible about your ambitions. You can be your own best friend or your own worst enemy, depending on just how you think about success. Does success, to you, mean things like making a lot of money, owning a pretentious home, holding down a big or glamorous job, belonging to swanky clubs? If these are your ambitions, then you are chasing a will-o'-the-wisp. For, regardless of your actual achievements, you'll never feel that you have really gotten what you're after. The reason is that the kind of success you are interested in is tied up with the notion of superiority. Without, perhaps, being aware of it, what you're mainly striving for is to get ahead of, or show up, other people. But since there will always be somebody you can't catch up with, let alone get ahead of, you'll always be restless, dissatisfied and afflicted with envy.

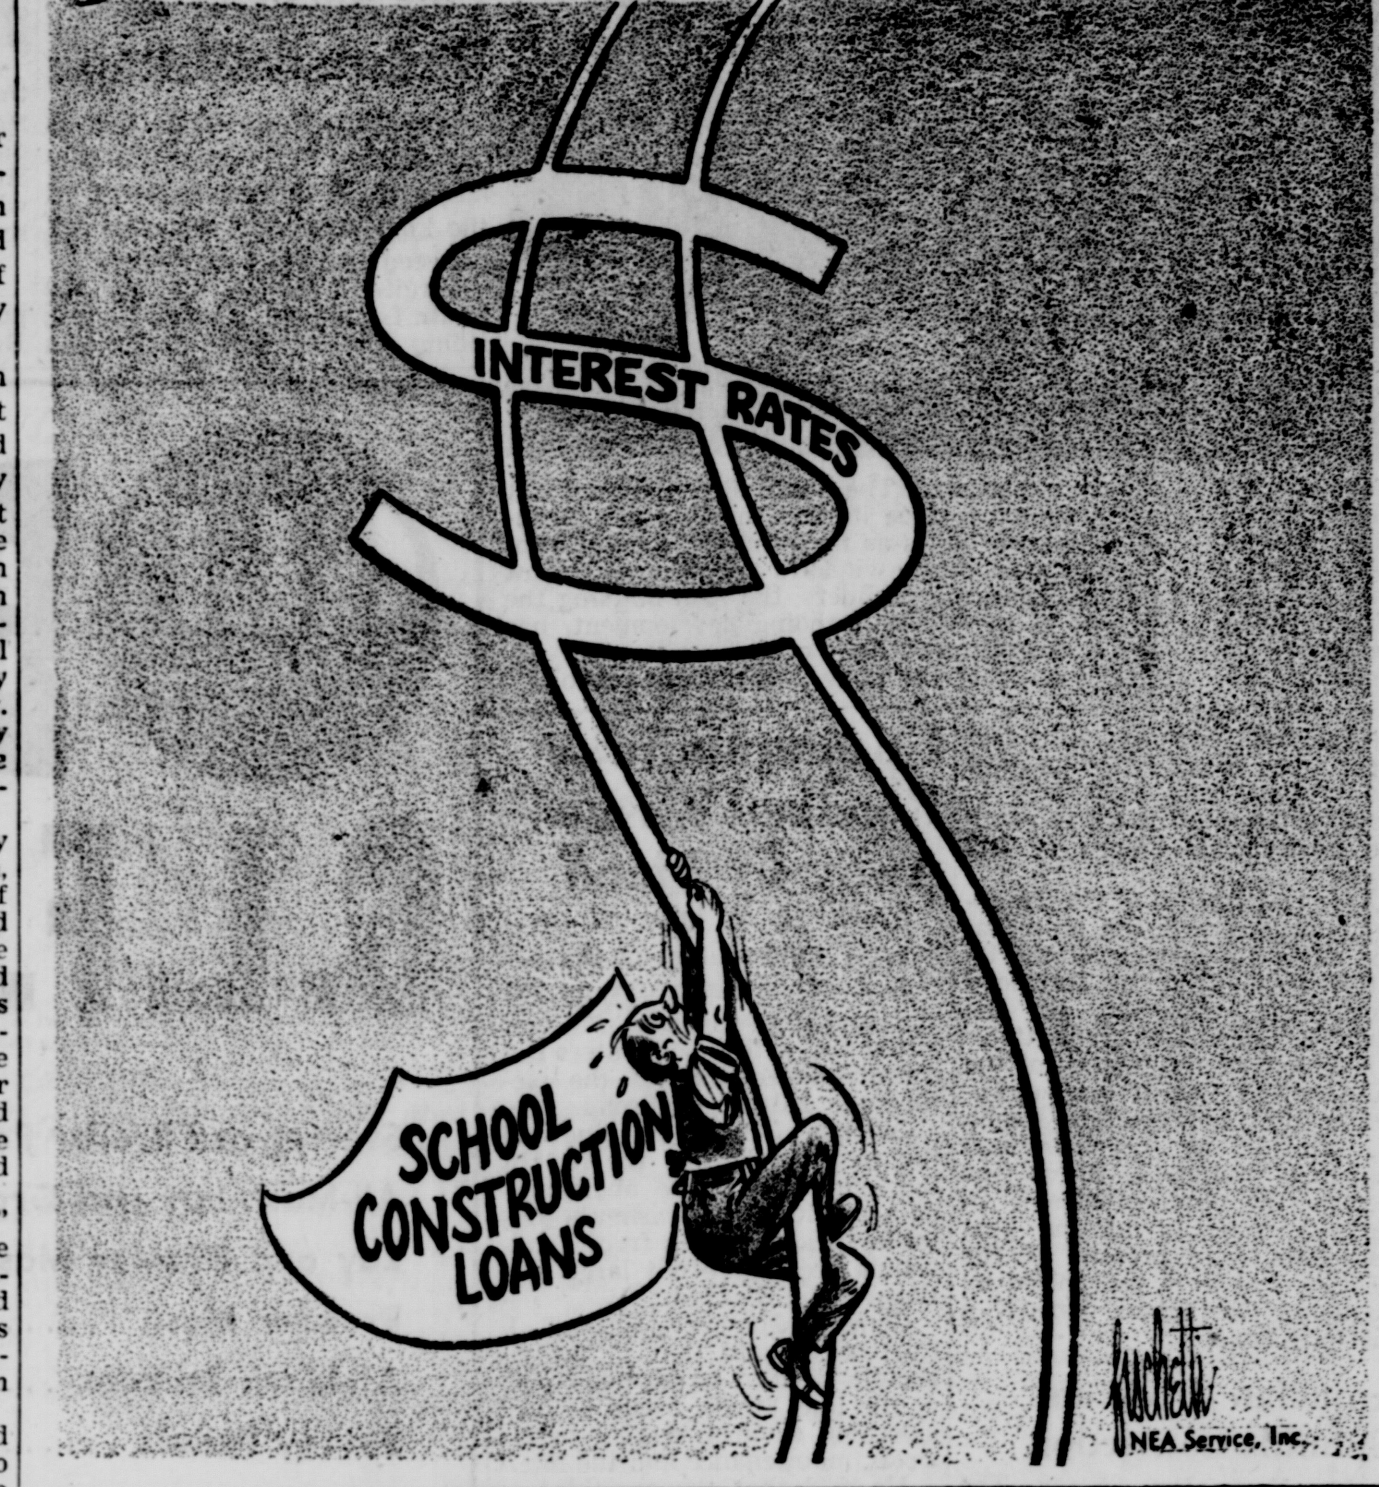

Recently laboratory tests show, moreover, that persons bent on this type of success are the first to crack up and give up when the going gets rough. Failure to make a fine showing, even in small things, such as a quiz or game, is enough to unnerve them. The tests, reported by Dr. Mandel Sherman of the University of Chicago, make it plain that a sure-fire device for developing neurotic symptoms is to be concerned at all times with beating everybody in sight.

The right way, the healthy way, to think of success is to think of it in terms simply of making the most of your particular abilities and opportunities. Recognizing your limitations and the fact that nobody can be, do or have everything, you must not expect too much of yourself or too much of life. You must come to understand that there are pleasures and satisfactions available to everyone that have nothing at all to do with money or advancement or getting your picture in the paper or getting a bigger car.

Your ambitions, if you're sensible, will be merely to improve yourself and better your position within realistic limits, while bringing as much happiness as possible to your family and at the same time being of some help and use to others. With these ambitions which can be realized by anybody, you can not only BE a success but also KNOW and FEEL that you are. Tomorrow I would like to deal with the subject of worry because while everyone does a certain amount of worrying, some people worry practically all the time. If it isn't one thing it is half a dozen others. These chronic worriers just can't be happy.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA) — President Eisenhower at the beginning of his second term has only two-thirds completed the job of making over the Republican party into the forward-looking organization he wants it to be.

This is indicated by present make-up of the GOP National Committee, which met in Washington over the inauguration weekend.

Its big business was to lay plans for the 1958 congressional elections and to name a new national chairman to lead the party to victory next year.

Making over the whole Republican party and the election of a Republican-controlled House and Senate for the last two years of his administration are two of the President's most cherished ambitions.

THERE ARE 25 easily identifiable "Taft" Republicans still on the National Committee, though "Knowland" Republicans might be a more accurate designation of their philosophy.

The list includes such venerables as Rep. Clarence Brown and Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown (no relation) of Ohio, Jay Cooke of Pennsylvania, Rep. B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee, E. D. Crippa of Wyoming and Walter Hallahan of West Virginia.

Another 20 to 25 of the national committee members are committeemen and the GOP state chairmen—not so well known nationally—are likewise rated as considerably to the right of President Eisenhower in their political thinking.

These two groups of roughly 45 to 50 comprise the one-third of the 145-member National Committee still rated reactionary. THIS REPUBLICAN Old Guard is gradually being replaced.

Four years ago the GOP National Committee was about evenly divided between Eisenhower and Taft Republicans. Being older, the conservatives die off faster, or retire. They are usually replaced by younger, more progressively minded Republicans.

In all there are 6 new members of the National Committee. They were chosen during last year's primary campaigns, at San Francisco convention state caucuses or at state conventions shortly thereafter.

All these new committee members and state chairmen are big wheels in their own states, but their political leanings on national affairs are largely unknown to Washington party leaders.

Most of the 46 are rated as Eisenhower progressives. Together with the 50 to 60 committee members who were Eisenhower supporters before the 1952 Chicago convention, they make up the nearly 100 progressive Republicans who today dominate the National Committee.

THE TRANSITION from reactionary Republicanism to progressivism is obviously moving faster in the National Committee than it is in the U. S. Senate. But the test on this will come in the 1958 elections and it will be up to the new chairman to deliver.

Of the 21 Republican senators whose terms end next year—including Senator Knowland of California who is resigning—11 are Eisenhower progressives and 10 conservatives. Among the latter are Bricker of Ohio, Goldwater of Arizona, Jenner of Indiana, McCarthy of Wisconsin, Malone of Nevada.

In an alert, Eisenhower-minded Republican organization would replace all of them and a few others with more progressive candidates, it would go a long way toward giving the President the kind of Senate he wants.

The Republican job in the House, in which all 435 congressmen must be elected, is to wipe out the present Democratic 33-seat lead. There are two vacancies. That means the GOP must hold all the 200 seats its representatives now fill and change the result in at least 18 districts for a minimum 218-217 control.

'Planning' Is Called Useless In Meeting Russia's Shifts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 25—When President Eisenhower said the other day that the Russian rulers are "unpredictable," he dis-appointed a lot of captious and carping critics in Congress and elsewhere who talk as if they really believe the making of foreign policy is just a mere matter of advance "planning."

A whole cult has arisen both here and abroad which takes potshots regularly at the Eisenhower administration either for doing too much or too little or for allegedly having no foreign policy at all. The favorite theme of the critics, when a climax comes in international affairs, is to say that no "planning" was done or that America failed to prevent this or that contingency from arising, though few of the partisans who usually give vent to such quibbles face up to the main point. It is that there are two parties to every controversy, and the United States hasn't any control over the enemy's operations. To the cry that America must somehow "make the Russians behave," there is always the question of whether any one wants this country to go to war to coerce or compel the Russians to behave differently.

Day to Day Matters

The critics give the impression that all the Department of State needs to do is press a button and out of some electronic device will flow different envelopes giving the prepared questions and answers in certain categories of world policy—just like the machine that pours out the answers to the $64,000 question on TV.

Mr. Eisenhower at his Wednesday press conference was asked whether there is a "marked hardening of relations between the United States and the Soviet Union" or an "intensification of the cold war" and whether he contemplated "any discussion or correspondence with Soviet leaders looking toward easing tensions."

To this he replied: "Well, you are asking question about matters that really have to be handled day to day as they come up. Now, I am not contemplating any correspondence for changing of attitude, because I know of no point at this time that would be a proper subject of communication. I can really say that the Soviets are hard on their attitude or changing their attitude."

Unpredictables

"After all, we are dealing with people who are rather unpredictable and, at times, they are just practically inexorable, so far as we are concerned. So you go along announcing your views about peace in the world, what you are striving to do, why you are doing it, and then, for the rest of it, you meet them from time to time, or your diplomatic representatives do, in order to see whether it is possible to ameliorate the situation in which we find ourselves.

No more comprehensive description of the world foreign policy has to be made in a troubled world could have been given. But the President in his brief answer took it for granted that his listeners understood what he meant when he said, "you go along announcing your views about peace in the world." For it means that, while there can be a lot of speechmaking about basic principles, there is also a line beyond which the aggressor must not be permitted to go without military retaliation. That line has been set by preceding administrations as well as by the present administration. It was crossed by the Communists in Korea and in connection with the Berlin blockade. It has not been crossed in Formosa.

Avoiding Blueprints

But it is not realistic or practical to spell out exactly in advance everything the United States would do in certain crises. Members of Congress keep prod-ding administration officials nowadays unwittingly to give the enemy a blueprint of just what America will do in certain contingencies in the Middle East. No military commander falls for that kind of disclosure, and a "cold war" is not different in this respect from a "hot war."

Sometimes the petulant partisans in Congress today act as if it doesn't make any difference to them if they increase the dangers to their own government—just so long as they put the Administration politically in a hole. But the American people who watch with dismay the tactics of the political saboteurs are inclined to trust the President's good sense, his patriotism and his caution and restraint in one of the most complex adventures of all times—a heroic attempt to prevent a world war.

This correspondent once played chess—not too well, but enough to understand the various imaginary games set forth in the Sunday newspapers explaining how this or that theoretical move should be made to arrive at a victory by "checkmate."

All these paper strategies are based on the assumption that both parties at the chess table will be wise and neither will make stupid moves, or miscalculate. Unfortunately, aggressor governments sometimes are reckless and do miscalculate.

It's easy enough to form a policy when you are dealing with a civilized government which has a feeling of responsibility to its people. It's hard to do advance "planning" when the other fellows are gangsters with a ruthless disregard of the rights and even the best interests of their own people, whom they have enslaved.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago, Jan. 24—The financial coup known as the proxy raid has resulted in strange associations in the realm of industrial management. Thus a hustler who formerly worked for the Daily Worker and holed up in the Office of War Information during the war, turned up associated with a major general formerly of General Eisenhower's staff at SHAPE, outside Paris, in the tangled "interests" of Leopold D. Silberstein, a refugee from Hitler's Germany who came here via Holland, England and China. He is said to have acquired a Portuguese passport in Shanghai. The hustler is David Karr, now a "public relations" expert with offices in New York and Washington. For years, he was a "leg-man" for a Washington columnist and stationed in the State Department there. According to Adolf Berle's testimony in the Alger Hiss inquiry, secret information called "magic" leaked into a columnist's possession and was published.

The major general is Charles T. Lanham, also known as "Buck," whose last command was the First Infantry Division, called "The Big Red One." This is widely regarded as the best command in the army.

The announcement in 1952 of Ike's decision to come back and run for President was delayed more than an hour one day as journalists, photographers and radio-TV talent milled about in the beaverboard corridors of GHQ because "Buck's" zipper jammed and he was wearing a short battle-jacket for swank. A detail of engineers saved the situation and Ike resumed his progress toward his destiny.

General Lanham was hit in the early days of Normandy and he recalls that he lay in a hole with the late Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, and all one night exchanging snatches of Swinburne, Keats and Shelley from memory. He is stuck together with pegs and tape.

Karr began as a Fuller brush salesman. He was a member of the Daily Worker editorial force although he has denied that he was either a Communist or a regular staff worker.

It would seem that Karr and Silberstein are no longer friendly allies although they once were. Karr is now helping Alfons Landi, of Washington, and a committee of stockholders in the jumbled, complex interests of Silberstein's Penn-Texas Corporation, a catch-all holding company. This Landi group is trying to find out where Silberstein gets his money, who the mysterious principals were who bought 100,000 shares of Fairbanks-Morse through a Swiss bank, and who got a profit of about one million on this deal.

Robert H. Morse, Jr., president of Fairbanks-Morse, says the first time he ever laid eyes on Silberstein, Silberstein "popped" into his office and said, "we are going to be partners." He then demanded four seats on the board and for himself chairman-ship of the executive committee. Karr is now giving professional counsel to companies which are resisting seizure through proxy strategy by Silberstein and his associates.

Morse says Silberstein is not the owner-of-record of a single share of Fairbanks-Morse and owns less than one-half of one per cent of Penn-Texas.

Karr wrote a book called "Fight for Control," a treatise on proxy raids in which he said "a battle of the board-room is a savage affair that brings out the worst in man. Participants have been known to attack the opposition on matters of filial ties, marital conduct, race religion and political viewpoints. Every prejudice is invoked sometimes connotations are so ugly as to cause groups concerned with the broader aspects of race relationships and public morality to intercede lest a community be engulfed in hatred."

In a foreword, Karr wrote: "I owe a special note of thanks to Maj.-Gen. C. T. Lanham, USA, Ret., a true gentleman and courageous public servant who encouraged me in this book's preparation and received precious little gratitude in return at the time."

Peach Trees Hit Hard by Cold, Heinicke Reports

Rochester, Jan. 25 (AP)—New York state's 1957 peach crop is seen "pretty well gone" by Dr. A. J. Heinicke, director of the state agricultural experiment station at Geneva.

He said this in a report he submitted Thursday at the 102d annual meeting of the state horticultural society. The sessions continue through Friday.

Heinicke said his appraisal of the peach crop loss is based on an extensive survey among county agents, growers and researchers at Geneva and Ithaca after the recent sub-zero temperatures.

There might be some peach crop, he said, in the Youngstown area in Niagara county, and in scattered sections of the Hudson valley.

The damage is estimated, he said, from examination of branches sampled from orchards. Buds with the inside black instead of green are dead.

He said a more extended study of the wood pulp in the branch is necessary to determine the permanent damage to the tree.

Bennett A. Dominick Jr. of the State School of Agriculture at Cornell University said the annual state peach crop is about 1,200,000 bushels. The average cost yield to the farmer is $2.50 per bushel.

Heinicke said the sweet cherry crop will be "seriously reduced" because of "the extreme cold. There was little damage, he said to sour cherries or apples. Grapes, he said, suffered some damage in the Finger Lakes area, but there was little loss in the Chautauque region.

Transport Is Due

Youth Program Of Atonement Church Outlined

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties has adopted a new youth program for the members of the Church and the community, according to the Rev. Richard I. Crossland, pastor of the local congregation.

The new program has three parts. There will be Sunday night youth forums held at the church the first and third Sundays of each month at 7 p. m. These will present a variety of subjects, making use of guest speakers, roundtable discussions, and visual aids. Sunday night, February 3, the subject will be, "What Makes A Marriage." These young people will do many important things in the years ahead, but the person these youth select as their wife or husband will help to determine whether their future will be happy or a disappointment, the pastor said. A film will be shown at this forum called, "And With This Ring."

The second forum will be February 17 around the theme "The Way America Worships." The panel discussion will present the way the Jew, the Roman Catholic and the Protestant worship God. A short film called, "The House of God" will be shown to help in creating greater understanding and respect for all religions and creeds, he said. Future forums will be planned by the youth working with the pastor and the youth advisors, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Olson, Miss Margaret Gippert and Richard Reinhart.

According to the Rev. Mr. Crossland, the second part of the program will be the Saturday night canteens.

The community does not offer too many places where the young people can come with their friends and their dates, and in good and wholesome surroundings have a good time. For that reason the church has decided to make their facilities available for Saturday night canteens, where there will be dancing, television, ping pong and many other games and activities for all the youth. These canteens are being sponsored by the Couples Club of the church who will give time in supervision and guidance to help this new program serve the youth, the pastor said.

The church recently purchased a four-speed Hi-Fi record player for use at these canteens, and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Campbell of West Bridge street have donated a television set to the church for use at these canteens.

In addition to recorded music, dance music will be provided by a musical organization made up of students at the Saugerties Central School called the Six Notes. There will be no charge for admission to these canteens and soda and hot dogs will be sold. The first of the canteens will be held this Saturday from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. Future canteens will be determined by how well they are received by the youth.

World News in Brief

3 Survivors Found

Miami, Fla., Jan. 25 (AP)—Three survivors in "good condition" were picked up today after the collision and crash of two U. S. Air Force stratojet bombers which carried six men.

They were identified by a Homestead Air Force base spokesman as Maj. James McGree McFarland, Jr., 37, of Watertown, Pa.; Maj. Winfred E. Lynn, 33, of Paducah, Ky.; and First Lt. James Edward Rose Jr., 28, of Dallas, Tex.

Those unaccounted for were Capt. James H. Parker of Rock Hill, S. C.; First Lt. Earl S. Chrisman Jr., Sumter, S. C., and Maj. W. E. Norris of Lansing, Mich.

McFarland and Lynn were commanders of the two intercontinental bombers which crashed last night off Cuba's southwest coast. Rose was copilot in McFarland's plane.

Dag Sees Barriers

United Nations, N. Y., Jan. 25 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld declared today that serious legal barriers stood in the way of accepting Israel's terms for pulling her troops out of the Gaza strip.

The secretary general's view was contained in a special report to the 80-nation General Assembly announcing that Israel "has not fully complied" with that body's demands for complete withdrawal of her forces from Egypt by last night.

TIPPING MAID IN PRIVATE HOUSE

A letter tells me: "Every once in a while we are invited to my uncle's house for dinner. He has a maid who is paid by the week and receives a very good salary. She does not, however, live in the house. I noticed the last time we were there for dinner that one of my cousins gave the maid a tip. It never occurred to me to tip a maid in a private house and I wonder if this is proper and expected?"

A tip to a maid in a private house should never be given unless you are a house guest for at least over one night.

Introducing Married Sister

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother introduced me to a business associate of his the other day, as follows: "Mr. Smith, may I introduce you to my sister." He did not mention that my name is Mrs. Jones. I say this introduction was inadequate. He says the fact that I am his sister was all that mattered. Which of us is right?

Answer: If you were unmarried, he would be right. But since you are married and have a different name, you are right. To say "my sister" would naturally be taken for granted that your name is the same as his. He should have added after "my sister, Mrs. Jones."

A Related Wedding Announcement

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been married secretly for over two years. For business reasons this could not be made public. I would like to announce my marriage now but do not wish to disclose the real wedding date. Will you please tell me if this would be proper?

Answer: You will build up a great deal of distress and confusion for yourselves if you do not frankly announce the true wedding date. It does not matter how long ago or how lately it occurred. This detail should not be kept secret.

Is it proper for boys and girls to give each other presents? This is one of the questions in a quiz written by Mrs. Post found in leaflet E-11, "Do You Know Your ABC's in Manners?" (For boys and girls of high-school age.) Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Free-

The Mature Parent

Tell Angry Child How YOU Feel, Not How He Feels

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Gary was balancing himself on the sofa arm when his mother came into the living room. As he expected her to applaud his skill, he was shocked when she rushed at him crying "Can't I take my eyes off you a minute?" Swept from his glorious, commanding height on the sofa arm, he was overcome with bitterness at her interference in his life. Launching a kick at her, he flung himself into a tantrum.

His mother said, "You're angry with Mommy. You hate her. That's all right. All little children sometimes get angry with their Mommys."

But this child-guidance formula, guaranteed to soothe Gary, didn't. It made him madder. Losing all patience, he launched another kick at the interfering creature who wasn't satisfied with telling him what to do but had to tell him how he felt as well.

An angry child is quieted not by what we say but by the feeling behind what we say. If we truly feel it is all right for Gary to resent us, he is comforted to hear us say so.

He is relieved to know that, though anger has betrayed him into trying to kick us out of his life, we intend to remain in it

Dulles Answers Critics

Washington, Jan. 25 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, replying to Democratic demands for a "white paper" on his Middle East policies, said today such a project "would irreparably damage" relations with Britain and France and "reopen all the old wounds."

Dulles in effect rejected the requests at a Senate hearing marked by a blast from Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) at the critics of the cabinet officer.

Aiken told Dulles that Democratic attacks might be construed as "a concerted effort to destroy you, politically and personally."

Some of the questioning of the secretary, Aiken asserted, had "gone far beyond the point of constructive criticism."

Seeks U. S. Approval

London, Jan. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan is stepping up plans to renovate and streamline Britain's military machine, under the broad supervision of Defense Minister Duncan Sandys. The government wants U. S. approval and aid in the move.

Macmillan told Parliament he had directed Sandys to draft a new program "in the light of present strategic needs" that would make possible sizeable cuts in manpower and appropriations. The emphasis will be on new nuclear weapons.

15 Teachers Visit Mayor For B-E Day

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today joined 15 teachers in a tour of city hall departments and other municipal points of interest in observance of Business Education Day in which 300 teachers were to participate with 30 businesses, industries and institutions.

Besides the tour of offices and departments in the city hall the group was shown a section of the city's water system, the sewage treatment plant, recreation center, laboratory and tumor clinic. Movies were also shown as part of the afternoon tour.

Rescue Crews

other two burned on the fire escape.

The sprawling loft building housed six separate shops. Two machine shops occupied the first floor, and the other three floors housed dress shops and a house slipper maker.

Dead were an 18-year-old bride of three months, Mrs. Angelina Di Rienzo, Mrs. Jessie Mongillo, 42, mother of a 15-year-old child; Miss Alma Bradley, 46; and Miss Grace Pitman, 42.

Three hours after the fire started it was still blazing out of control. A huge section of wall collapsed, leaving a wedge-shaped hole two stories deep which exposed the opposite wall. The 70-year-old building was in a drab factory and tenement district, not far from the harbor of New Haven's east side.

No one knew how the fire started.

Walter Myjai, one of the owners of a first floor metal shop, said he heard a rumbling and opened the door of the elevator shaft.

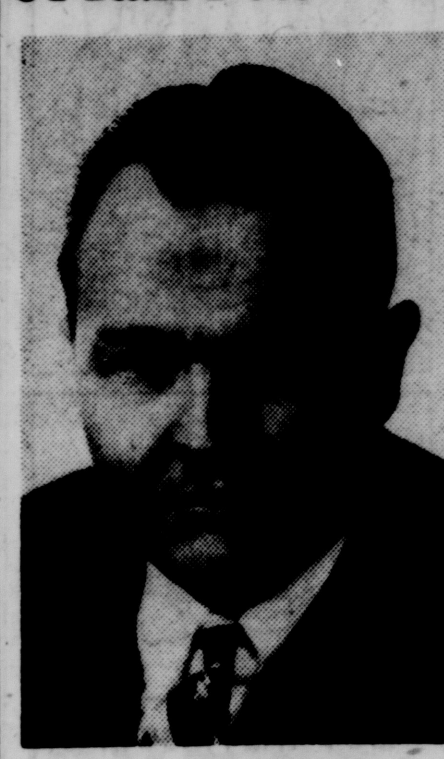

"Red fire burst out at me," he said.

Check False Alarm

Firemen, plagued by serious calls in the past two days, were called out on a false alarm today. It was sounded at 12:55 p. m., from Box 3221, Hone and Hunter streets and summoned men and equipment from Central and Cornell stations, and the Wicks salvage unit.

said, "was not in a position to maintain the necessary market contacts or not close enough to the markets to deal effectively with professional buyers."

The Associated Press report of elections said: Roland J. Reitz of Greece, N. Y., was advanced from vice president in the election of the society. Ralph W. Smith of Poughkeepsie was named vice president.

Smith and Marion Johnson of Williamstown were re-elected directors. Alfred Zimmerman of Clintondale and Lee Downer of Forestville were elected directors to succeed Gerard F. Maier of Newburgh and Harold Hitchings of Syracuse.

Retiring President Abram Van Alstyne of Kinderhook urged cooperation in the exchange of market conditions and in the financing of "cloud seeding" to avert injury to fruit crops by hail.

BABSON on BUSINESS

BABSON RECOMMENDS
AN INVESTMENT

Babson Park, Mass., Jan. 25—It is the first time for several years that I have felt free to recommend any specific stock or bond in this weekly column. I, however, now want to explain the mention of non-taxable bonds which I made in my recent forecast for 1957.

There is a big difference between stocks and bonds. Stocks own the equity in a corporation. Profits go to the stockholders after payment of interest on the bonds and other indebtedness. This may be much or none, and it fluctuates up and down. Some people make lots of money by buying stocks at the right time; while other people lose everything by buying them at the wrong time.

Bonds—on the contrary—are the same as a mortgage on your house. The interest on bonds is a prior claim. Usually their price does not fluctuate as widely as the price of common stocks and the interest is most always paid. Hence, they are much safer to buy than are stocks. In addition to U. S. Government Bonds, there are three other important types of bonds: (1) "Full Faith" State and Municipal Bonds, which are the safest investment you can buy and whose interest is non-taxable. (2) Corporation Bonds, which—of the same company—are safer than the stock of that company, but their interest is taxable. (3) Revenue Bonds which are issued by your state, city, or town, but your interest payment depends upon the earnings of a state turnpike, or upon your local gas, water, or sewerage system. This interest, however, is not taxable.

Today's Prices for Bonds

All bonds are cheaper than they have been for over 20 years. Buy almost any today and you should have an excellent investment. But by proper selection, with the help of an investment counselor, you should be sure to make money particularly by purchasing selected non-taxable bonds. Buying good non-taxable bonds is just like discovering gold in your own back yard. No reader of this column remembers my ever saying this since the panic of 1929-1932.

All of the following non-taxable revenue bonds were selling at par ($1,000) a few months ago. Today they can be bought as follows:

Security	Rate	Maturity	Price
Florida Turnpike Authority Revenue .....	3 3/4%	4/1/95	88.50
Illinois Toll Highway Revenue .....	3 3/4%	1/1/95	87.00
Indiana Toll Road Commission Revenue ..	3 1/2%	1/1/94	87.50
Greater New Orleans Expressway Revenue	4%	11/1/94	92.00
Maine Turnpike Revenue .....	4%	1/1/89	95.50
Mackinac Bridge Authority Revenue .....	4%	1/1/94	94.50
Ohio Turnpike Revenue .....	3 3/4%	6/1/92	88.50
Chesapeake Bay Ferry District Revenue ..	4 1/4%	4/1/86	95.00
Massachusetts Turnpike Revenue .....	3.30%	5/1/94	87.00

Difference

The modern long-playing (33 1/3-rpm) phonograph record has some 325 grooves to the inch compared with 100 per inch on the 78-rpm record.

Non-Taxable Benefits

But here is something else to remember. The income you get from any stock, corporation bond, or even U. S. Government Bond, is taxable. Practically everyone must pay a federal tax of at least 20%-25% of all dividends and interest received except from State, City and Town Bonds, and special non-taxable authority issues which include these turnpike revenue bonds.

Here is what this means to you. Whatever your income, you can save 20%-25%. If, however, you are in a higher income tax bracket (say 50%), 4% on any of the above bonds could net you the same as 8% on taxable stocks. If your income is $50,000, then the interest on these 4% tax free bonds equals 16% in taxable income; while those having incomes of $80,000 get an equivalent yield of 25% on their money after all taxes. Seems too good to be true; but it is true!

The Fly in the Ointment

Why doesn't everyone with large incomes buy these bonds now? It may be that they are waiting for lower prices due to the fear that many more new Turnpike Bonds are coming on the market. Or it may be due to fear of the competition which these present turnpikes may have from the new U. S. Government highways. Surely I do not fear such competition.

If you believe that automobile riding is going to be less and that the automobile business is "going to pot," then don't buy these tax-free turnpike bonds. If you believe World War 3 is soon coming, when gas again will be rationed, you are justified in being cautious. But I believe such fears are now foolish. Hence, I say: "buy seasoned non-taxable turnpikes—and buy them today."

Incentive

Bowling Green, Ky. (AP)—Kids are turning old tires into basketballs. A recapping firm, finding itself short on old tires, offered a regulation size and weight basketball to each boy and girl bringing in a tire. When the supply of basketballs is exhausted, the company said it will order more.

CENTRAL HUDSON HONORS EMPLOYEES

artificial respiration. The awards are presented to the utility employees by Ernest R. Acker (right), president of Central Hudson, as George J. Ruoff, the utility's safety director, observes the presentation.

2 Central Hudson Employees Receive Life-Saving Award

Two Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation employees received awards this week for saving the life of a fellow employee who had become unconscious from contact with 2,400 volts of electricity last October.

The two recipients of the award were Frederick Plattner, Lake Katrine, and William Schaffer, 50 Washington avenue, Saugerties. The awards, established by the Edison Electric Institute, were presented to the utility employees by Company President Ernest R. Acker at ceremonies in the Company's general offices in Poughkeepsie.

Occurred in Dutchess

The injured lineman and Mr. Plattner were working on a utility pole in the town of La Grange near Poughkeepsie when the accident occurred. The victim made contact with an energized electric line device and lost consciousness immediately. His momentum carried his body close to Mr. Plattner who pulled the injured lineman astride his safety belt and began administering standard pole-top resuscitation.

The victim resumed breathing within the minute. The artificial respiration was continued while other members of the utility crew made arrangements for lowering the injured. As soon as he was brought to ground level, Mr. Schaffer began applying back-pressure arm lift resuscitation.

As a result of the successful application of approved methods of manual artificial respiration, an EEI medal, lapel button and citation were awarded to Mr. Plattner and a lapel button and citation to Mr. Schaffer.

Mr. Plattner has been employed by the local utility for more than eight years as a lineman in the company's Kingston District. Mr. Schaffer, a six-year employee also works in the Kingston District as an Equipment Operator.

"All members of Central Hudson crews," said Safety Director George J. Ruoff, "are trained in the latest methods of manual resuscitation."

Second Nurse Is Dead in 'Prank' Ether Explosion

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 25 (AP)—Death yesterday claimed the second of two nurses who were burned in an ether explosion caused by a "prank." The latest fatality was Miss Charlotte Smith, 23.

Miss Kathleen Oehler, 19, died Sunday of burns suffered in the incident at St. Joseph's Hospital Jan. 16.

Two registered nurses signed statements that each threw about a half-pint of ether at the students just before the fire, without knowing Miss Smith was smoking. Fire Chief Earl McDonald said. He quoted them as saying ether-throwing was a nurses' "prank."

McDaniel said Margaret R. Donovan, 24, and Mary Frances Hutchinson, 26, signed the statements.

No charges have been filed. Police Chief E. C. Hale said police inquiry may be completed next week.

Three Are Killed As Jets Collide

Big Spring, Tex., Jan. 25 (AP)—Three air force officers were killed last night when two T-33 jet trainers collided at 1,200 feet about five miles from Webb Air Force Base here.

Killed were: Second Lt. Kenneth A. Augason, 24, (837 Ramona avenue) Salt Lake City, Utah. His wife, Sharon, and one-month old child, live here.

First Lt. Carlton R. Virden, 24, (P.O. Box 58) Robstown, Tex., his wife, Carolyn Jayne, lives here.

Second Lt. William H. Charbonneau III, 23, (132 Gilbert drive) Yakima, Wash. His wife of three months, Marlene Joyce, lives here.

Capt. Allen Robertson, public information officer at Webb, said the planes collided in a heavily traveled area. He said details of the crash were not known. The accident occurred at 11:45 p. m.

The men and the jets landed in a plowed field.

Charbonneau was flying alone and Virden was the pilot of the other plane.

Only 54 Cross Border

Vienna, Jan. 25 (AP)—Only 54 refugees from Russian-occupied Hungary reached Austria in the last 24 hours, the lowest daily total since the Oct. 23 revolution. Seventeen got across in daylight yesterday and 35 during the night. Only a month ago thousands were still coming over. The reduction of the refugee flow to a trickle is due chiefly to tightened Hungarian police guards, from Budapest across the Austrian border. The tightened guards have caused many Hungarians to flee southward to Communist-ruled Yugoslavia.

State Car Inspection Law

(Fifth in a Series)

When the inspection of motor vehicles in New York State starts February 1, the official inspection sticker will be issued only for cars and trucks which measure up to standards of safety prescribed in State law and Motor Vehicle Bureau regulations.

As required by law, the inspection will cover brakes, steering, wheel alignment and lights. Additional items will apply to tractor-trailers.

If a vehicle is found to be defective in any of these respects, the official inspection station must send notice of it to the Motor Vehicle Bureau unless the needed repairs and adjustments are made before the vehicle leaves the station. The car or truck will have to be repaired, re-inspected and a sticker obtained for it within ten days of the original inspection.

Practically all the safety standards which are now spelled out in inspection procedures have always been requirements under the State Vehicle and Traffic Law. But now, for the first time in this State, there will be machinery for enforcing them consistently and uniformly.

You may take your car to any licensed official inspection station. Not all stations will be equipped to inspect trucks, but there will be truck inspection stations in all parts of the State.

Renewal Stub Stamped
Make certain that you have your registration renewal stub with you at the time. When the vehicle passes, the inspector will not only issue a sticker for the windshield but also stamp your renewal stub. That will permit you to get your next registration plates.

Once the station begins the inspection, it is required to complete it. There is no specific order in which to make the various safety tests but each of the four basic points on your car must be covered in each inspection.

The actual inspection isn't much different than what your garage does now if you take your car in and ask for a check-up of safety equipment. Here is a skeletonized rundown of the items a station must cover, and some of the reasons for rejecting a vehicle as unsafe:

BRAKES must be able to stop the vehicle in 30 feet at 20 miles per hour. This test may be made either on the road in dry weather, on a hard surface clear of loose material or on brake-testing equipment indoors. Hydraulic, vacuum and air brake systems won't pass if there is leakage, loose connections or faulty cables. Brakes must be equalized so as to stop the vehicle in a straight line. Fluid level must be adequate. Footbrakes must have pedal reserve. Handbrakes must have a locking device which will hold and lever reserve.

Steering apparatus must be in good condition and wheels cannot be excessively out of line, if your car is to pass inspection. Stations must jack up the front end of the car and test for wear in king pins and bushings, looseness in wheel bearings and tie-rod. They are not allowed to pass a car in which front wheels or steering wheel have excessive play, if wheels are excessively out of line, if a spring is broken or sagging, if there is a leak in the power steering system, or if an axle or front-end assembly is bent, twisted or worn.

Testing for Lights
Headlamps must be of approved type with matching lens and reflectors, and with bulbs of proper candlepower. They must be focused and aimed properly. Switches and foot dimmer must be working and the beam indicator operative. Rear lights must work, red light visible for 500 feet, license plate properly illuminated and stop lights in working order. Other lights also must meet legal specifications. Directional lights are not required on 1952 or older models, but if they are installed as accessories they must be in working condition and working properly.

Commercial vehicles are subject to additional lighting requirements under a new law and supplementary regulations which become effective this year.

Tractor-trailers will be subjected to a far more detailed check, covering all lights and reflectors, emergency signals and warning lights.

The brakes inspection on tractor-trailers covers 10 separate points, and rules require pulling of at least one rear wheel on each tractor and each trailer inspected. Two separate means of brake application must be in working condition, and there must be warning devices to indicate leakage on truck-tractors equipped with air-brake systems.

The tractor-trailer inspection procedure also calls for checking seven additional items not included for other vehicles. These are: fuel systems, coupling devices and towing methods, tires, windshield wipers, rear-vision mirrors, horn and exhaust systems.

Photography Offered

Mrs. DeWitt will offer a course in photography starting Monday at 7 p. m. in room 32. This has always been a very popular class and this year new cameras, new film and new equipment have been added. Highlights of the course will include composition, illustrated with color slides; learning to travel with your camera with the lecture "A Travelogue in Color;" and a "Color Clinic" where you will learn to improve your own color slides. "Making Pictures People Like" will be of interest to everyone at the first lecture where you will meet your neighbor and his camera.

Few people realize that they can learn to type in ten lessons, Mr. Dippel said. A new class in beginning typing will start Monday at 7:30 in Room 41. Those joining the class are required to purchase a textbook at nominal cost.

So many people signed up for Driver Education the first semester that it was necessary to disappoint some of those who wanted this course. A new class will be organized consisting of 10 class meetings and nine "behind the wheel" sessions, Mr. Dippel said. There is a fee for this class to cover expenses. It is important that those interested be present at the first meeting Monday at 7:30 since at this time the groups for the road work will be formed. The class will meet in Room 38.

Some Classes Continue

In addition to these new classes the following classes which were in effect during the first semester are carrying over to the second semester and are open to anyone who may be interested. Monday there is Americanization in Room 34 at 7:30; Early American Decoration in Room 47 at 7 p. m.; and American Civilization, a discussion group which meets every other Monday at 7:30 in the Library, with the next meeting February 4. Tuesday evenings the Hobby Shop meets in the shop at 7 p. m., or the class in drawing and painting for beginners in Room 47 at 7 p. m. Wednesday evening there is still room in the class in piano, in Room 20 at 7:30; Advanced Typing in Room 41 at 7:30; and the discussion group in World Affairs in the library at 7:30.

Girl's Death Due To Carbon Monoxide

Harrison, Jan. 25 (AP)—A medical examination had disclosed that 17-year-old Carole Shernoff, daughter of a textile manufacturer, died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The girl's body, clad in a nightgown, was found yesterday on the floor of the family garage beside a car. The auto ignition was turned on.

Police investigated what appeared to be bruises on Carole's forehead and nose. But after the autopsy, Dr. Victoria M. Bradess, Westchester county medical examiner, said:

"The girl died of carbon monoxide poisoning with no contributing trauma (injury or wound)."

The girl, a physical education major, was to enter Beaver College, Jenkintown, Pa., in the fall.

An official at Harrison High School described her as a well-adjusted girl. Her family said she apparently had no worries. She ranked 14th in a class of 90. No note was found.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Shernoff. The couple have another daughter, Joan, 13.

Antigua, an island in the British West Indies, has an area of 170 square miles. It has a population of approximately 51,000 people.

County Extension Celebrates Birth Of Cornell Founder

Ulster County Extension Service Association board of directors at its first quarterly meeting Wednesday joined the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University in its celebration of the 150th birth anniversary of the university's founder, Ezra Cornell. Cornell was born Jan. 11, 1807.

The local Extension Service Association is a branch of the University which Cornell founded in 1865 and established on his 300 acre farm overlooking Cayuga Lake at Ithaca.

All his life Cornell was interested in agriculture and on several occasions predicted the kind of scientific agriculture that we now have in New York and throughout the U. S.

Few people thought of agriculture as a science back in Cornell's day. He wrote as early as the 1870's that the best results and best profits come from farming where the farmers read, study and experiment most and that the only reason that farming is "in so backward a state as compared with other occupations comes from the old foggy idea that nothing can be learned from farming except by work."

"It is indeed fitting that the local Extension Service Association board join with the trustees of Cornell University to pay tribute to this great man," Chester DuMont Jr., president of the association said. "His institution now reaches every community and neighborhood in our great state."

Sicilian Art Theme Of Italian Designer

Florence, Jan. 25 (AP)—Emilio of Florence entered Italy's fashion lists last night with rolling drums, a medieval flag-throwing ceremony and a collection drawing heavily on similarly native tradition.

The Florentine designer's array this year is based on two colorful themes—Siena's traditional "Palio" horse race and Sicilian art.

The Siennese designs were a development for his dazzling play clothes last season, made of cottons gay with heraldic emblems from the province's renaissance period.

Siena's 17 districts are fierce rivals at "Palio" time, when each enters a horse in the race run in the city's main square. The district emblems include eagles, snails, giraffes, panthers and the like.

This year not just the emblem but the whole flag was easily recognizable as each model paraded forth in a cotton outfit. So no viewer would be in doubt—and to heighten the effect, no doubt—each carried a banner to match her dress.

The Sicilian inspiration was drawn from the brilliant mosaics of Palermo's famed Monreale Cathedral and Cloister, on a primitive folk art, heavy with geometric patterns.

The collection would be notable only for the fabrics were Emilio a lesser designer, but he does new things with his rich cotton prints.

His shorts are the briefest yet seen this spring. They are worn with long-sleeved, highnecked Capri shirts, and sawed-off butcher jackets that barely cover the shorts.

Bikinis are as brief as bikinis should be—but with a couple of inches of bouffant skirt.

Emilio also introduced little barrel-like beach jackets that tie closed at the bottom, just long enough to cover a bathing suit.

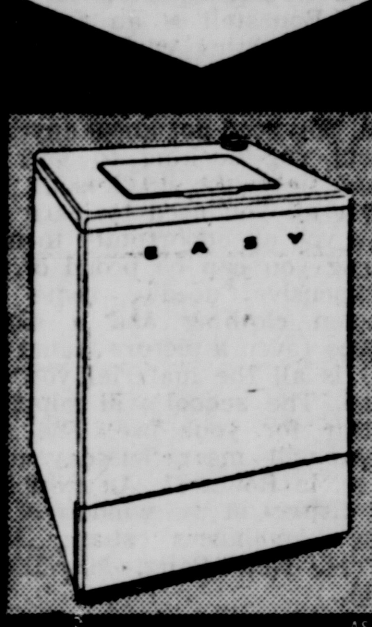

For the delicate, Emilio designed ankle-length terry cloth beach ponchos, printed of course with Siennese symbols and Sicilian geometrics.

First Official Reception in Two Years Held at White House; 1,200 Guests Attend

Washington, Jan. 25 (AP)—The White House was ablaze with the glitter and pomp of its official reception in two years last night and President and Mrs. Eisenhower entertained 1,200 guests.

The occasion—a welcome to diplomats assigned to Washington—came just three days after the President took the oath of office for a second term.

Mrs. Eisenhower wore her citron-yellow inaugural ball gown as she came down the grand staircase on the President's arm to launch the 1957 White House social season.

A colorful assemblage of men and women in formal evening clothes, dashing military uniforms and the native costumes of many lands filled the stately rooms.

The Eisenhowers appeared shortly after 9 p. m. (EST) and walked behind a military color guard down the red-carpeted main hall.

They stood in the blue room to shake hands as the long receiving line queued up in the order firmly set by protocol.

Ambassador Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne of Norway, a veteran of 14 years in Washington and dean of the diplomatic corps, headed the line.

Vice President and Mrs. Nixon and four members of the cabinet, represented the President's official family.

Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Secretary of Commerce

Weeks, and Postmaster General Summerfield—and their wives—followed the Eisenhowers and the Nixons in the formal entrance.

After passing the President and first lady, the guests went into the huge state dining room for small talk and refreshments—fruit punch, assorted cakes and small sandwiches.

Here Russian Ambassador Georgi Zarubin, Austrian Ambassador Karl Gruber and Sumnerfield disclosed they had hit upon health as a "safe subject" of conversation.

Dulles, after a day of testifying on the Middle East doctrine on Capitol Hill, was overheard to say that he was being given a "rough time," but "we're getting along O.K."

Among the costumes were the exquisite saris of Asian countries, Madame Hollington Tong, wife of the Chinese ambassador, wore a pale yellow silk dress, an oriental fashion. Mrs. Carlos P. Romulo, wife of the Philippine ambassador, wore a pale green dress made of pineapple fiber.

The guests included the six-foot-tall wife of the Aga Khan, a former French beauty queen. She wore a sequin-shimmering dress of deep green.

After completing their hand-shaking activities, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower retired to their quarters at 10:17 p. m. The guests stayed on to dance in the east room.

Mrs. Eunice Kellogg, 32, of Winthrop, passenger in a car with which the truck collided on Route 11 west of this village near Massena, died in a hospital afterward. State police said the truck, with Ohio license plates, went off the road, struck a tree and burned. Granville, N. Y., Jan. 25 (P)—
Two boys were hospitalized yesterday with injuries suffered when they jumped from a moving Delaware & Hudson Railroad train. Both live in this northeastern New York community. Pliny Williams, 16, was reported in fair condition in Mary McClellan Hospital at Cambridge. John Quackenbush, 14, was said to be in serious condition at Emma Laing Stevens Hospital here.

Autopsy Scheduled
On Body of Woman
Point Lookout, N. Y., Jan. 25 (P)—An autopsy was scheduled for today on the body of an unidentified woman found on a lonely stretch of Atlantic Ocean beach near this Nassau county community.
The body was found yesterday by a beach inspector during a routine patrol.
Authorities estimated the woman—believed to be in her fifties, weighing 175 pounds and of medium height—had been dead two or three days. There were no marks of violence on the body, which apparently had been washed ashore in front of the Colony Beach Club on Long Island's south shore.
She was attired in a dress, gloves and shoes. On one finger was a gold ring with a large greenish stone and flanked on both sides by what appeared to be small diamonds.
The gloves bore the label of Gimbel's department store in New York. Her shoes had been purchased from "Doc's Shoe Store," Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
A preliminary check of the county's missing person file failed to turn up anyone answering the dead woman's description.
Office Progress
Milwaukee (P)—The mark of an older era disappeared from the City Hall when the last of the rolloff desks used by the aldermen since 1896 were replaced. The new desks are modern creations with mar resistant surfaces.

South gazed mournfully at the dummy. "The next time I open the bidding I will have a little more than this collection of tripe."

After this sad reflection South noted that there was a chance to make his contract. All he needed was a singleton or doubleton ace of spades in either hand.

South's first step was to try to get as much information as possible about the distribution. He won the opening lead in his own hand, cashed dummy's ace and king of diamonds; returned to his own hand with the ten of hearts and played his last two diamonds, discarding a spade and a club from dummy. West let go a small club and South made the mental note that West started with only three diamonds. A small heart was lead to dummy's ace. Note that South retained the queen of hearts as a possible reentry to his own hand. West let another club go and now South had more information. West had started with only four cards in the red suits and therefore held nine black cards. Of course he held a lot of clubs but unless he held seven or more he had at least three spades.

As much evidence as he could gather safely was in. South played a low spade from dummy and won East's jack with his queen. He returned the three of spades, played low from dummy and East had to play the ace.
Dummy was good and South had brought home the slam.

Cleveland Eyes Rosen; Mantle Still Holdout

Mick and Yanks 'Far Apart'

(By The Associated Press)
It's not serious yet, but a batch of holdouts—most of them on the New York Yankees' roster—seems likely to increase as major league baseball edges closer to spring training. And one of the holdouts, Cleveland's Al Rosen, may make it permanent.

Kerby Farrell, the Indians' new skipper, indicated strongly that Rosen, the veteran infielder who has been much abused by Cleveland fans, has decided to quit. In discussing the Tribe's 1957 outlook, Kerby said "I certainly hope Rosen changes his mind about retiring. I would like to have him."

He Hasn't Signed
Rosen, who will be 32 March 1, has received a contract for his 10th season with the Indians, but hasn't signed. It's been reported for months that Rosen has told his friends he's quitting, but the club is playing it cool—insisting that until Rosen refuses to sign he hasn't quit.

Most of the holdouts are the Yankees' worry. The world champs haven't been able to satisfy Mickey Mantle, Don Larsen, Hank Bauer, Johnny Kucks or Bob Grim—but Lee Mac Phail, new director of personnel, says everything will work out fine.

Mantle, however, mentioned yesterday in Tulsa on his way home to Commerce, Okla., that "I may be around this vicinity playing golf all spring." The Mick, 1956 triple-crown champ, insists he and the Yanks aren't even "close" on terms. He wants about $50,000, the club has mentioned $42,000 or so.

Larsen Rues Words
Larsen, the perfect-game pitcher of last fall's World Series, said Wednesday he might "end up tending bar" considering what the club offered. Yesterday, Larsen said the comment was made on a golf course, wasn't meant for publication and that he was "pretty mad about it."

Although having returned the first offer unsigned, Larsen said he expects to reach an agreement on his salary. Friends say he wants $27,500, about twice his '56 pay.

Other Chit Chat
There wasn't too much action on the signing front yesterday. The only signings announced last night were those by outfielder Jim Bolger and right-hander Gene Fodge, both with the Chicago Cubs.

Elsewhere, Ty Cobb said he thinks Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox's 38-year-old batting star, should have two, or maybe three, more seasons left in the majors. Cobb played until he was 42. . . . Owner P. K. Wrigley nixed a rumor that his Chicago Cubs were planning to install lights, leaving Wrigley Field as the only major league park without a night game schedule. . . . Left-hander Johnny Antonelli, New York Giants' ace, says he isn't satisfied with the club's 1957 offer, but doesn't think they'll have trouble. . . . The Pittsburgh Pirates listed a 56-man roster, 14 from farm clubs, for the opening of spring training Feb. 28 at Ft. Myers, Fla. . . . The Red Sox, signing pitchers Tom Brewer and Frank Sullivan, announced pitchers and catchers will report for training Feb. 25 at their Saratoga, Fla., camp.

Jackson 'Real Mad' At Champ Patterson

New York, Jan. 25 (AP)—On the surface everything was sweet and peaceful at the annual dinner of the Boxing Writers Assn. last night.

Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and sports columnist Frank Graham of the New York Journal-American received the main awards. Even Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, was content just to hand Patterson the Edward J. Neil plaque as "Fighter of the Year" without putting the rap on anyone or anything.

But in a far corner of the grand ballroom of the Roosevelt Hotel, a tall, broad-shouldered fellow, seemingly strange in his well cut grey suit, sat and burned.
"I'll get him the next time. I'll show him. I'll chop him up something awful. You wait and see."

The words came slowly at first, then in a torrent from Tommy Jackson, the fighter they call the Hurricane of the Rockaways.
"He was my friend," said Tommy, "but he ain't any more. I'll get him in June. That's my next fight. Him and me for the title."

Threatens Mayhem
What was it that was upsetting him?
"I beat him the last time and he knows it," replied the Hurricane. "I made the fight. He didn't do nothing to me. He only fought a couple of seconds each round. So he got the decision and he got to fight Archie Moore and he won the title. It should have been me. But I'll get him. He ain't my friend any more. I ain't been mad at anyone before but now I'm mad."

"You know what? I'm gonna chop him up. I chopped up everyone but him. I think I'm gonna knock him out in two rounds. Patterson won a split decision over Jackson at Madison Square Garden last June 8 to earn the shot at Moore. He then knocked out Moore in the fifth round on Nov. 30 to succeed the retired Rocky Marciano as heavyweight champion.

A Patterson-Jackson title fight for June has not been made yet but everyone seems to think it will. It's the logical match and Patterson and his handlers favor it.

Fisher-Playford Beat Unbeaten

Pete Fisher Jr. and Moe Playford of the Ramblers handed Harold Johnson and Art Brown of the Atoms their first defeat of the season in the County Major shuffleboard league, as the Ramblers held the Atoms to a 2-2 split.

Rookie Prusack-Pete Fisher Sr. picked up the other win, while Andy Plotzky-Hokie Hotelling and Brown-Johnson won one each.

Cadillacs Boost Lead
A. J.'s Cadillacs added a game to their lead by downing Don's American Cleaners, 3-1. A. J. Oster-Bud Leininger won twice and George Harmon-E. J. McDevitt once for the Cadillacs. Herb Wolf-Bud Rappleyea picked up the Cleaners' lone win.

Next week the action takes place at Rookies Tavern when Atoms host the Cleaners and Cadillacs meet the Ramblers.

Tabori Bids for First U. S. Mile

Philadelphia, Jan. 25 (AP)—Laszlo Tabori, sandy-haired and spindly-legged Hungarian runner, makes his American mile debut tonight, still a little nervous about the short straightaways and sharp turns on the indoor boards.

Tabori, who left his native land for the Melbourne Olympics and chose not to return because of the Communist oppression in Hungary, arrived here last night to take part in the 13th annual Philadelphia Inquirer games.

Tonight's events will be the second indoor appearance for Tabori. He finished second to Fred Dwyer in a two-mile contest in the Boston K. of C. games last Saturday night. He's hoping to do better than that tonight, since he prefers to run the shorter distance. He has run the mile in 3:59.

Austin Boyd Is Elected Twaalfskill President

Succeeds King; James L. Quinn Is Vice President

Austin Boyd Jr., a vice president of The Lansdell Company of Kingston, was elected president of The Twaalfskill Club, Inc. at last night's annual election meeting.

He succeeds Harold F. King, president of the H. F. King Corporation, whose term expired in December.

One of the most popular members of the club, Boyd has been active in official and social circles at the midtown club since coming to Kingston with the Lansdell company about five years ago.

Held Various Offices
He was vice-president and chairman of the House committee in 1956. In 1953 he served as chairman of entertainment committees and was a member of the Board of Directors for three years.

Mr. Boyd was recently elected secretary of the Kingston Boys Club and has served as treasurer for two years. He also served as city chairman of the Red Cross and is a member of the Board of Directors.

His wife, Alva, completed a rapid rise up the golf ladder by capturing the Twaalfskill women's title in 1956. Like her husband, she has been active on many of the house committees.

Quinn Vice-President
James L. Quinn, president of the Quinn Publishing Co., was named vice-president and Louis R. Netter, managing editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected at the annual meeting are Mrs. Claire Vogel, J. William Johnson and Eugene Berardi. The retiring directors are Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker Jr., Robert Russell and Harold F. King.

The financial report for 1956 indicated a substantial balance for the club and a solid membership. A few applications for 1956 membership were processed last night.

Mr. Boyd said he would name committees for 1957 early in February.

Goldbacks Notch Sixth Win in DUSO

Newburgh Academy defeated the faltering Redskins of Liberty High, 62-51, last night to move a half game behind the league leading Poughkeepsie High School Pioneers.

The win was the sixth in eight starts for the Goldbacks. Poughkeepsie has a 6-1 record.

Coach Lanky Masterson's regulars built up a 39-23 halftime lead and coasted after the recess. They managed 22 of 35 foul tries. Liberty, dropping its fourth straight, after four earlier successes, trailed 15-7 at the quarter.

Beccaccio Sinks 19
Al Beccaccio paced the Goldbacks with 19 points. John Curry, hero of the overtime victory over Poughkeepsie netted 14 and Bob Coleman ripped 12.

Missouri Does What Stilt Can't

(By The Associated Press)
That's a nice cozy merry-go-round they have going in the Big Seven Conference basketball race. Kansas is "unbeaten" except against Iowa State — and Missouri can't beat anyont BUT Iowa State.

It was Iowa's State's Cyclones who put an end to all that Wilt the Stilt nonsense by junking Kansas's unbeaten record and No. 1 position in the Associated Press poll last Jan. 14.

But then Mizou up and hopped the Cyclones, who had scooted away up to No. 3 in the national ranking this week, 69-66 in overtime last night. Upset? No. for Mizou, The Tigers had handed Iowa State (2-2) its only defeat in conference play 77-59.

Wrecked Title Hopes
The second defeat just about wrecked Iowa State's bid for the title, since the Cyclones must face Kansas again (Feb. 2)—at Kansas, Missouri, with a 2-3 record, is just a spoiler.

The midlands had another surprise when Wichita defeated Oklahoma A. & M. 52-48. It was Wichita's fifth success in 27 tries against Coach Hank Iba's teams and all but crumbled the Aggie hopes for the Missouri Valley championship.

Those were the only two standout games in yet another night of meager action due to mid-term examinations.

St. Peter's Girls Capture CYO Game

Ulster LL Sets New Rules for '57

Town of Ulster Little League has adopted new rules governing the selection of managers and coaches.

The new plan was among several matters discussed at a recent meeting. The league also voted to purchase a public address system and set the third Thursday of every month as the official meeting date. There will be no other notices or reminders sent out.

Plans to organize a minor league were also discussed and all parents or men interested in Little League baseball were invited to join the Town of Ulster Little League committee.

Gordie Howe Ties For Points Lead

Detroit, Jan. 25 (AP)—Gordie Howe, second highest goal-getter in the history of the National Hockey League, is making opposing goalies sit down and take notice.

The explosive scoring of the muscular forward, now in his 11th season with the Detroit Red Wings, has vaulted the club back into a first place deadlock with the Montreal Canadiens and put Howe into a tie for the scoring leadership.

The first of Howe's two goals in last night's 6-2 triumph over the Chicago Black Hawks barreled from 35 feet out that it sent the Chicago goalie sprawling backward into the nets.

Machen Is 4-1 Pick Over Maxim

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 25 (AP)—Joey Maxim, former world's light heavyweight champion, will be giving away 10 years and about nine pounds tonight when the sly veteran tries to avoid the knockout punches of undefeated Eddie Machen, one of the top heavyweight title contenders.

Their 10-round bout at Miami Beach Auditorium will be telecast and broadcast nationally (NBC) starting at 10 p. m. (EST).

Machen will be gunning for his 20th straight victory and his 15th knockout. The California Negro is 24 and local oddsmakers figure he is a 4-1 favorite to whip his 34-year-old opponent.

Maxim, who lost his title to Archie Moore, has a pro record of 82-24-4. He hasn't fought in four months. He expects to weigh in at 185.

North Carolina has a 250-pound freshman wrestler named Atlas Buffalo from Garner, N. C.

There was a quick, sharp reaction to some of the comments we made on sportsmen's questions and problems a few nights ago.

W. Schreiber voiced his dissatisfaction with the behavior of attitudes of some of the nimrods in these succinct observations:

"I own a farm of more than 100 acres in the village of Stone Ridge. Several years ago I was asked if it was okay to have it posted by the local gun club. I agreed on two conditions:

- 1) Two club memberships for my family.
  - 2) That my property be given a little protection, as I live in Hurley.
- "Since that date my property has been posted annually by the local club. I have yet to receive the memberships and some damage occurs every year on my property.

"I sell eggs at my Hurley farm and never once recall a member of the gun club stopping in to buy a dozen eggs or saying thanks. The hunter is a big spender on equipment, drinks, stocking game. Why are some of them so cheap with the guy that owns the land? What percent of the total cost of hunting is spent on the landowner?"

While this appears to be a problem between one club and an individual landowner, we did not take the trouble to check with Carl King, the Federation president. King informed us it is the policy of the Saugerties Fish & Game Club to grant automatic membership to any owner who permits his property to be posted. He said he didn't know whether this is a general policy among member clubs in the Federation and expressed the opinion it was a matter between the owner and the fish and game clubs.

Flotsam and Jetsam

Lowell Brooks of Hurley, one of the golfing twins, is a member of the ski team at Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., where the weather should be pretty fair for skiing. . . . Sullivan county groups are pushing for development of Venison Valley as a major ski center. The valley, entirely New York State Forest Preserve "forever wild," lies about 25 miles from the resort hotel district of Sullivan county, about 30 miles from Ellenville. Politically speaking, Venison Valley lies in the Ulster county townships of Denning and Shandaken. Shandaken has the upper half, entirely cut off from the rest of the township by Slide Mountain. Economically speaking, however, Venison Valley belongs to Sullivan county and in a lesser sense to the southern reaches of Ulster. Consistent snow and a variety of slopes is all important and Venison Valley has both in abundance. Its proponents claim it could be developed into not just the greatest ski center in the Catskills—but the greatest driving card in the East.

Hot Stove League Stuff:

Young Johnny Antonelli achieved the unique distinction of beating one club in three different parks in 1956, and he didn't pick on any soft touch in the process. The 20-game winning left-hander beat the Dodgers 1-0 at Jersey City on Aug. 15, edged them 2-1 at the Polo Grounds on Sept. 2 and completed the cycle with a 6-2 win at Ebbets Field on Sept. 7. In three games, the gifted southpaw allowed the hard-hitting Brooks only three runs. . . . Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, the Cardinals' strapping left-handed pitcher with the blazing fast ball, is reflecting on the best "hitting" season of his career these days. Mizell finished with a bat mark of .107 in 1956, marking the first time during all his years in organized baseball that he reached the .100 mark in batting. . . . Richie Ashburn, fleet-footed Phillie centerfielder, registered 503 putouts in 1956 and in so doing established an all-time major league record which reads: "Most years 400-or-more putouts by an outfielder, seven."

Of Men and Mice:

The proposed meeting of New York Giant baseball fans has been postponed until Feb. 14 when it is hoped all the faithful will assemble. The time and place will be announced later. . . . Roland Post, president of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club, says Saturday night's banquet featuring Warren Page, NEA shooting expert, is a "complete sellout." When the North Carolina basketball team came to New York to play NYU, Coach Frank McGuire's wife went out for an afternoon's shopping. Mrs. McGuire hailed a hackie, who promptly took her for an out-of-town. "If you're in the mood for some action, New York action," he told her, "I can steer you to a floating crap game tonight. Might be fun for a visitor." P.S.: Mr. and Mrs. McGuire were born and raised in New York city.

Warriors Boost Eastern Lead

(By The Associated Press)
The complexion of what was once a tight battle for second place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn. suddenly has taken on a decided Philadelphia hue.

From a half-game lead over the New York Knickerbockers, the Warriors burst into a 1½-game advantage last night as they defeated the St. Louis Hawks 107-96 while the Knicks were dropping a 115-97 decision to the Syracuse Nationals.

With Johnny Kerr scoring 16 of his 26 points, the Nationals went on a 41-point scoring spree in the second period and then stayed off the Knicks' rally.

Harry Gallatin, who paced New York with 22 points, led a third period New York surge that cut the Nats' lead to six points before they raised it to 85-76 going into the final period.

Middlecoff, Ken Venturi Tied With 65s

Palm Springs, Calif., Jan. 25

(P)—The elite of professional golf could look forward to another easy ride around the

Thunderbird country club today

but things will toughen a bit tomorrow.

Competing in the $15,000

Thunderbird Invitational, Cary

Middlecoff of Dallas and newly turned pro Ken Venturi led the way into the second round of the tournament today, each boasting 66's, five under par.

The pins were easily spotted in deference to the three club members playing with each pro

in the 36-hole best ball pro-amateur side attraction. But for the final two rounds—when the locals drop out—the pins will be harder to see from the fairways.

No less than 25 of the 43 invited players shot under par yesterday.

Mike Souchak, Art Wall Jr.,

Dick Mayer, Gardner Dickson,

Julius Boros, Billy Maxwell,

George Bayer and Fred Hawkins

all had 67.

Question: Will colleges follow the professionals and make the zone defense illegal?—Wes Ellis.

Answer: There has been no talk of it. And many colleges

(Other Sports on Page 17)

use the zone. It was ruled out of professional basketball strictly from a crowd appeal angle. The zone can slow up a game.

Q. When a defender is caught in a two-on-one fast break, what is the first thing he should do?—Louis Benfante.

A. Drop back, but keep facing the play. Don't go out and meet them. You have a better chance closer to the basket.

Q. Are all backboards of uniform size and shape?—Stan Watts.

A. There are uniform measurements for above and on the sides of the basket. Most colleges and all professional teams use glass rectangular backboards. But there are high schools which still use the fan-shaped affairs.

Pistol Is Found At Fire Today, Lyman Guild Held

A fire in his home at 23 Rondout street led to further trouble for Lyman Guild, 46, this morning after police discovered that he had an allegedly unlicensed pistol on the premises.

While firemen fought a blaze which damaged the dining room, furniture and curtains, officers Francis Buchanan and Edward Edwards arrested Guild on the pistol charge. He was due to spend some time in jail unless bail was obtained later today pending City Court appearance tomorrow.

Central station, Union Hose Company and the Wicks salvage unit responded to a call at 9:37 a. m., today with Deputy Fire Chief Harold A. Sanford in charge. Firemen found the house heavily charged with smoke when they arrived. The fire started in a couch near a stove due to its overheating or from a spark, spread to other furniture, generally damaged the room, blistered paint on a stairway and over an area upstairs.

Peter Banaskie, of 32 Rondout street, is listed as the owner of the two-story, brick structure. The fire was checked with a hydrant stream. A call at 8:53 p. m., yesterday was due to a flooded space heater in the home of Andrew McGowan. The blaze was checked by Union Hose Company with a chemical unit.

Says He Was Scared

White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 25 (F)—Edward F. Eckwerth, accused of murdering a Yonkers school teacher, testified today he fled the county after his disappearance because "I was scared."

"I thought the next thing I'd be in the hands of police," he said. "The only people I ever seem to deal with were the police. I've been in front of them all my life." Eckwerth, 29, testifying in his own defense for the third day, said he and the slain woman, Miss Rosemary Spezzo, 24, had been "kissing in a bar" on the day of her disappearance last June 22.

Marie Still Jittery

Hollywood, Jan. 25 (F)—Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald, admittedly a bit nervous these days, called the police when two salesmen arrived at her home, both claiming to be delivering her new convertible. Marie, whose story of being kidnapped Jan. 3 made recent headlines, summoned the officers to her San Fernando Valley home last night.

Search Is Resumed

Guilford, Conn., Jan. 25 (F)—State police said today a search for George Sessions Perry, author who has been missing from his Guilford home since Dec. 13, has been resumed. State police at Westbrook barracks and the State Aeronautics Department's helicopter searched the woods here yesterday, and resumed the search today. Police said there have been no new developments.

Corn Grows Corn

Jets Span U. S. To Study Stream

Bedford, Mass., Jan. 25 (F)—A six-jet B47—on a transcontinental flight planned for scientific study of the jet-stream—spanned the country in 3 hours, 47 minutes today.

Maj. Mont Smith of Champeign, Ill., in charge of the aircraft, said he did not know of any record for this particular course, from March Air Force Base, Calif., to Hanscom Air Force Base here. Maximum speed attained was 750 miles an hour.

Record Set in '55

A record transcontinental flight of 3:44.58 8/10 was set by an air force F84F Thunderstreak in 1955 according to newspaper files.

Maj. Smith said the weather was very good and that the plane flew most of the way at about 37,000 feet. The jet stream is usually 35,000 to 40,000 feet high. Jet streams have been measured at more than 230 miles an hour.

Maj. Smith said he had to take off on instruments and lost 25 minutes climbing to flight level. He said there was no sensation riding the stream, except a marked turbulence in going into it and out of it.

Consumer Prices Up

Washington, Jan. 25 (F)—Consumer prices climbed 0.2 percent in December for a total rise of 3 percent in the year 1956, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. Prices of food and clothing were unchanged in the main and transportation costs dipped a little but virtually all other elements of family living costs went up, the bureau said.

Americas Almost Double Supply of Oil for Europe

Washington, Jan. 25 (F)—An American oil executive says Europe is getting about 75 percent of its normal oil needs largely because deliveries from the western hemisphere have been nearly doubled.

But President Albert L. Nickerson of the Socony Oil Co. Inc. said yesterday "the shortages cannot be completely made up."

"We know that our efforts have not been completely successful," he added. "All we can say is that we have done—and will continue to do—our very best."

Nickerson's statements were contained in a report to the managements of all the Mobil companies here and abroad. Operating under a government-sanctioned program, major U. S. oil firms have pooled their tankers and other distribution resources in an effort to provide emergency oil supplies to western Europe.

The blocking of the Suez Canal and sabotage of an oil pipeline from Iraq have cut off most of Europe's Middle East oil sources. This happened during the brief war in Egypt last fall. Nickerson said some 563,000 barrels daily have been added to the 624,000 barrels of crude oil and its products which normally were shipped to Europe from this country and Venezuela.

"These shipments from the Americas total more than two-fifths of Europe's pre-emergency requirements," Nickerson said. "All told, roughly three-fourths of normal daily supplies were shipped to the European area during December and January."
